Changes made:

The major change that was made was to keep the site as simple as possible since the game itself has a simple style.

Removed Scrolling Parallax:

Instead of the user scrolling past the landing page, they now click on the appropriate links in the nav bar that will slide the relevant section out of the nav-bar.

If the user wants to return the the landing page they can click the logo in the center of the nav-bar.

Card System:

We decided to implement the card system that slides down from the nav-bar instead of the rotating box to display the information for different sections.

Trailer:

We decided to implement a trailer instead of the playground since the playground would have a very different mechanical feel to the actual game.

Navigation Bar:

The look of the navigation bar changed since that border we planned on using just didn't look good.

The nav-bar position was also moved to the top in order to accommodate the new card system.
